UFV's Bachelor of Business Administration degree is truly an applied business curriculum that prepares for a global business stint. The objective of this program is to produce graduates who are well-equipped to function in, and adapt to the rapidly changing global business environment. Through a series of in-class activities, individual assignments, hands-on projects, and industry case studies, you develop an in-depth understanding of key business principles and learn the ins and outs of starting, managing, and growing a business.

In the first two years of this four-year program, you will build up your foundational knowledge and essential skills in all areas of business: marketing, communication, strategic planning, analysis, management and leadership.

In the third and fourth years, you can choose from a selection of courses to earn a general business degree or decide to specialize in accounting, finance, marketing or human resources. Earn a major in one of these four areas by taking a selection of four prescribed courses as your upper-level electives. Or earn a minor in Financial Management, Operations Management/Management Information Systems, and Organizational Studies.

BACHELOR OF COMPUTER INFORMATION SYSTEMS

The Computer Information Systems program offered at UFV provides depth in both software development and systems and networking areas. Graduates from this are capable of working with both single and networked systems. You attain a capability of supporting and maintaining IT systems through the regular and changing requirements placed by ongoing business demands.

The final years of the degree program are built to provide graduates with additional technical knowledge and skills as well as more educational breadth and a better business background. This will also prepare graduates to move into managerial positions in information technology.

Students are also able to specialize in their third and fourth year into one of three concentrations: Software Development, Systems and Networking, or Security

UFV India offers a BA degree program with a wide variety of majors, extended minors, and minors. Our goal is to help students realize their potential as members of local and global communities, as inheritors of traditions, and as creators of possible futures. Maintaining high academic standards, we offer innovative disciplinary, interdisciplinary, and applied degrees and diplomas, which will prepare you for both continued education and employment.

At UFV, we have designed academically challenging programs to meet students' intellectual, artistic, and vocational needs. Our students are engaged in learning that integrates theory and practice and that draws connections between the methods and subject-matter of different disciplines. We offer small class sizes, personal attention, and a student centered community. Breadth and flexibility characterize our wide range of programs. At the same time, there is an international and cross-cultural focus to much of our teaching and research. But in all that we do, we are guided by a commitment to excellence in teaching and learning. A UFV BA will prepare you for employment, entrepreneurship, further education, and the social and ethical obligations of citizenship — both locally and globally. In short, it prepares you for life.
